The killer whale is an extremely intelligent animal and the great white shark operates mostly on instinct. So at the end of the book, it is no surprise that the killer whale wins. In nature, this seems to be the case as well. In combat that we know of, the killer whale has always emerged victorious.

Shark was the second book in this series that we read. Christopher was sure the Killer Whale would win. I bet on the Great White Shark. After running through a lot of facts about the two animals, in very absorbable fashion, there is a fight. Christopher called it! The Killer Whale won with almost no contest.

In nature, it might be a little harder to pick who would emerge the clear winner in a fight between a shark and a whale. For one thing, while sharks are solitary creatures while whales go around in packs. Moreover, a killer whale can grow to weigh 8000 pounds, whereas the maximum weight for the biggest adult shark could be only half of that.

Shark versus killer whale: who will win? : whowouldwin

When it comes to the battle between killer whales and great white sharks the killer whale is the clear winner for a number of reasons.

First their large size and ability to out run their prey (at least for short bursts) allows killer whales to both surprise their prey and
